

Horticulture Judging School

The Royal Botanical Gardens will be organizing a Horticulture Judging School starting in October 2019 and consisting of an expected five or six sessions, with graduation to occur in 2022.

Those wishing to have their names on the mailing list for more information and registration forms should send ten dollars (cheques to Judging School) to Wendy Downing, 304-160 Ogilvie Street, Dundas, Ontario L9H 7M7.

For Information only: wendydowning@cogeco.ca or Heinke Thiessen at heinkejc@gmail.com

The dates for the first session have been booked at Royal Botanical Gardens, (October 8, 9 and 10th, 2019) but more information as to specific course content will be provided at a later date once we know the school will proceed.

In the past, in addition to learning about the planning, organization and running of a flower show, students have had sessions on schedule writing, judging ethics, specific lectures on plant nomenclature and judging various types of plant material (flowers, container grown plants, fruits and vegetables) as well as information about exhibiting and teaching.

Each learning session will be $100.00 to help offset the cost of paying for materials, lecturers, etc. There will be a $15.00 discount for members of RBG.

If you are interested in attending, please complete the information below and return to Wendy Downing at the address shown above together with the $10.00 fee.
